

BMW Motorrad navigation and communication systems. Stay in touch, stay on course.

No matter how far your journey takes you, BMW Motorrad's range of user-friendly navigation and communication solutions mean you're never out there on your own. Our devices take the fear out of the unknown and put the excitement into exploring, with satellite navigation using voice instructions to guide you safely to your destination every time. What's more, a radio or mobile phone link means you need never lose contact with civilization again – unless you want to, of course.

Tracklog function

This feature stores up to eight complete tracks (records of the exact routes you have travelled), automatically compressing the data. The tracks can then be played back at a later date. No other satellite navigation system offers a comparable function.

POIs

Points of interest (POIs) allow customized content to be associated with specific locations so that when the rider reaches the place in question, an image is displayed on screen and/or an audio file is played back. In other words, the system lets you put together your own guided tours with audio commentary and video.

Bluetooth® technology

Bluetooth® technology means data can now be exchanged wirelessly between two Navigator III plus devices. Routes, route points and tracks can all easily be shared, while the system can also be used to make and receive calls in conjunction with a Bluetooth®-enabled mobile phone.

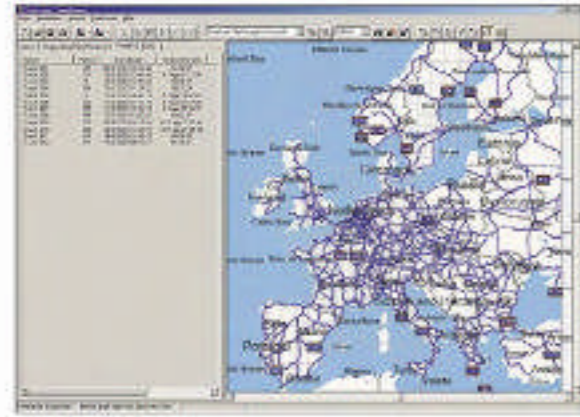

BENEFITS:

Wherever your journey takes you, the BMW Motorrad Navigator III plus will ensure you get there safely and with a minimum of fuss. The system combines a route and journey planner, GPS receiver, compass, and trip computer, while its petrol-resistant, splash-proof housing means it handles anything the elements can throw at it. The screen is easy to read, and an intuitive user interface ensures riders can master the system in seconds. The device even comes with a car kit, so it can be used on four wheels as well as two. An innovative text-to-speech function converts text into synthesized voice instructions, leaving the rider free to concentrate on what really matters – enjoying the road ahead. Map data (MapSource software) comes pre-installed.
